Harris Theatre - George Mason University. A Mainstage Series Performance

Mar. 26-28 & April 2-4, 8:00 pm & Mar. 28, 29 & April 4, 2:00 pm

This contemporary consideration of art and science takes place in the same house but, in time, on the eve of two very different centuries. Furtive romance, farcical commotions and dark secrets infuse this unique examination of women's roles in medical research and the ethical challenges unfolding in anatomy in 1799 and genetics in 1999. Tickets: $25 adults; $15 students, faculty, staff, seniors and groups

MR D would like to carry a FAN BUS to the Saturday's, March 28th 2:00pm show. If you are interested, let him know. Call 757-569-7544 for details.
